Hyder Completes Fourth Maintenance Facility

Hyder Construction of Denver recently completed the 22,000 square foot Arapahoe County Eastern Service Center located in Bennett, Colorado. Amenities located on-site include a fuel island, salt storage, vehicular wash facility, water storage facility, leach field and exterior storage for vehicles and materials. The maintenance facility was designed and built to sustain future growth.

Through the use of value engineering and cost control, Hyder was able to meet Arapahoe County's exceptionally tight budget which included additional scope and upgrades. Precise team communication and coordination of subcontractors, allowed Hyder to complete all construction prior to the winter deadline and allow Arapahoe County to occupy the new facility and utilize the amenities by the first snowfall.

"Our goal with every project is to exceed our client's expectations by delivering an extraordinary building that brings pride to Hyder and to the community" said Tom

McLagan, president of Hyder. "Hyder looks forward to a long term relationship with Arapahoe County."

The architect on the Eastern Service Center was OZ Architecture of Denver.
