

Seven Employees Have Received LEED Accreditation at Hyder Construction

Denver-based Hyder Construction recently increased its number of LEED-AP professionals. In the past few months, seven of its employees have passed the LEED accreditation exam including: Tom Pirog (Vice President), Wally Goodnow (Chief Estimator), Mike Battiato (Estimator), Rich Snyder (Project Manager), Matt Huelskamp (Asst. Project Manager), Zack Tupper (Project Engineer), and James Dwyer (Project Engineer). Hyder currently has 12 LEED accredited employees. The Hyder team is committed to providing the leadership to integrate cost effective sustainable and environmentally conscious materials, systems and building practices on each of our projects.
